NO CLUE TO SLAYERS OF SEVEN CHICAGO GANGSTERS

SALE OF BLOCK HOUSE SITE WON FAVOR IN HOUSE

Committee Favorable to Scheme to Mark Dixon Memorial

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15—(AP)—Abolition of the party circle, to facilitate split ticket voting in elections, was proposed in the Illinois House of Representatives today by Minority Leader Michael Igoe of Chicago.

Igoe offered four bills to amend the present election laws. He explained that this plan is already in effect in New York and Massachusetts, and is one of the most important of measures unanimously sponsored by women's organizations of the state.

Under the Igoe bills, the party circle at the top of the ballots would be eliminated. Voters would have to mark in the square before the name of every candidate for whom they desired to vote.

A scant handful of members attend the sessions of both houses today. Four bills were presented in the Senate, and seven in the House.

Name Defense Committee

Following the lead of the upper branch, the lower house today named a committee to take necessary action toward resisting the attempts of John B. Ferguson of Chicago to unseat them. Members of the committee are Little of Champaign, Igoe of Chicago, Rennie of Buda, Rice of Lexington and Robinson of Jacksonville.

Jesse L. Deck of Decatur, former state Senator who appeared on behalf of the legislature in the last Ferguson 'expatriation' suit, has been retained and conferred with the committee.

The House committee on roads and bridges has turned thumbs down on Governor Len Small's final recommendation to the legislature, which was to reimburse citizens of Gillespie who contributed to the financing of a strip of hard road on a state route near the city.

It was said that while citizens of Gillespie might be entitled to the refund, a dangerous precedent might thereby be established, and the committee recommended that the bill do not pass.

Favor Sale Dixon Site

The House adopted a resolution assenting to the acceptance by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, of $200,000 from the federal government, to be used in extension work. Favorable action was taken in committee on a proposal to sell the site of the old Dixon blockhouse, in which Lincoln served during the Blackhawk war.

Senator Mason offered a bill requiring all railroad cars to be built of steel. Rep. Overland offered a bill providing for the erection of elevated pleasure drives and boulevards.

Eight Bills in Senate

Eight bills were read for the first time in the Senate today. Among them was the bill introduced by Senator Charles Thompson of Harrisburg providing $200,000 for flood relief in the Saline river valley; Senator Arthur A. Miles' bill appropriating $370,000 for a bridge across the Wash river at Mt. Carmel; three bills by Senator James J. Barbour of Chicago permitting women to serve on juries and providing accommodations for them; and bills by Barbour establishing the Criminal Court of Chicago and providing for the segregation of mental defectives. These bills were all reported out of committee last night.

The Senate has had an especially full legislative week with hearings, which at times became vitriolic, on Governor Emmerson's gas tax bill, the Chicago revenue bills, and Senator Harry Starr's proposal to do something about the Chicago Sanitary District payroll scandals.

No Decisive Action

Decisive action was taken on none of these measures. It is probable that all three will be discussed on the Senate floor next week. Amendments have been offered to the revenue bills, amendments are being proposed for gas tax bill, and the Starr resolution will appear on the calendar ready for debate.

Adding to the full week was the demand made upon the legislators by John B. Ferguson of Chicago, who, in his latest expatriation suit, charges that all members are holding their seats unlawfully. Having unsuccessfully called upon the Attorney General to represent them in this legal battle, members today were to formulate their own plans for answering Ferguson.

In the Senate, a committee was appointed to represent all the members, but the House optimistically called upon the Attorney General to

THREE ESCAPE ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR THE PRESENT

Eleventh Hour Stays Granted Slayers in Cook County

Chicago, Feb. 15—(AP)—The electric chair is still to be used in Cook county for the first time. Three youthful slayers who were to have been its first victims were granted stays of execution a few hours before midnight last night, the time set for their electrocution.

Charles Walsh and Anthony Greco, convicted of killing Policeman Arthur Esau, were granted stays by Judge Harry B. Miller, who sentenced them. He said he believed they were guilty and should be executed but that he would give them until Wednesday "to perfect such an appeal as I think every man in a capital case is entitled to."

David Shanks, Negro slayer of Jennie Constance, Peoria, Ill., school teacher, was later given a stay of 21 days by his trial judge—Dennis J. Normoyle. The court reprimanded Shanks' counsel for negligence and instructed a new attorney how to perfect an appeal.

Pershing, Parker Show Improvement

Paris, Feb. 15—(AP)—Two prominent Americans were definitely on the road to recovery after influenza attacks today.

General John J. Pershing was able to get around his room in a dressing gown so far, however, he is receiving no visitors.

S. Parker Gilbert, Agent General for Reparations, is keeping indoors merely as a precautionary measure and has seen some friends. He plans to leave for Berlin Monday or Tuesday.

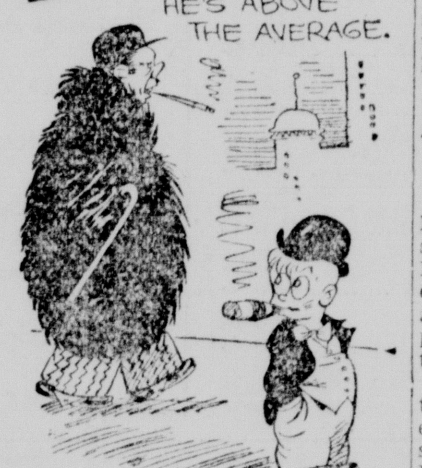

Insanity New Plea of Chicago Slayers

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15—(AP)—Anthony Dreco and Charles Walsh, murderers of a Chicago policeman, who were saved from death on the electric chair today, by a temporary stay granted by Circuit Judge Miller of Chicago, this morning brought pleas for supersedeas to the Supreme Court, alleging insanity.

The cost of firing a triple-turret salvo in the case of the seafighter H. M. S. Nelson is about $3,500.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW IN DEALERS' SHOW ROOMS NEXT WEEK

The Latest Models Will be Shown by All Dixon Auto Dealers

Dixon's 1929 automobile show, sponsored by the Dixon Automotive Dealers association, will open tomorrow and continue for one week. Dealers have gone to a great deal of expense in decorating their display rooms and bringing a complete line of the 1929 model cars to be shown to the public at this time. Instead of centralizing the show as has been attempted in past seasons, the dealers are showing the beautiful new models in their respective display rooms, which have been artistically decorated for the occasion.

Not only the most luxurious pleasure cars but dependable trucks are being shown and the public is invited to visit each of the displays and inspect the new models. The efforts of the various dealers to make the 1929 showing a success is deserving of the public's interest in the many displays. The display rooms will be thrown open to the public tomorrow afternoon, the show to continue through next week closing Saturday night, February 23. The following agencies represented in Dixon are participating in the show: Nash, Studebaker, Buick, Hupmobile, Willys Knight and Whippet, Pontiac and Oakland, Oldsmobile, Ford, Chevrolet, Dodge, Hudson and Essex, Chrysler, International trucks and tractors.

Mrs. Mary Morey, widow of the late Henry Morey, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Devine, Jr., 1106 Third street, at 11 o'clock Thursday night. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the home and at 9:30 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church, with burial in Oakwood cemetery, beside the body of her husband who preceded her in death a year ago last November.

Mary Meyers, daughter of the late Patrick and Anna Meyers, was born at Amboy, Feb. 8, 1869 and grew to young womanhood there. Jan. 22, 1889 she was united in marriage with Henry Morey, coming immediately to this city, where she has since resided. She is survived by two children, George Morey and Mrs. James Devine, Jr., both of Dixon; three sisters, Mrs. James Kitznick and Mrs. H. T. Jargenson of Chicago, and Miss Julia A. Meyers of Amboy; one brother, John, of Amboy.

She was a kind and loving mother, a good neighbor and a warm friend, who will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

EUROPE STILL IN THROES OF BITTER WINTER

Stories of Death and Suffering Coming from All Parts

London, Feb. 15—(AP)—Europe continued today in the grip of an unprecedented cold wave.

There was a slight increase in temperatures in some quarters, but generally there was no amelioration of the bitter cold which has blanketed most of the continent with snow and ice and wrought untold suffering.

Speedy action at the coal mines in Czechoslovakia promised some relief to centers where fuel shortages had reached a serious stage but against this one favorable report there were many other of disruptive train services, isolated towns, and human misery.

One particularly pathetic story came from Poland, where a young peasant bride going from her native village to a church in Piotrkow for her wedding was found frozen to death in her sleigh.

The Riviera suffered from the worst snow in 140 years. The weight of the three-inch fall caused the roof of a garage to collapse, burying a score of persons and injuring three of them.

England bore the brunt of temperatures from eight below zero, Fahrenheit, to a few degrees above.

Somerset, Ky., Feb. 15—(AP)—Mrs. Ida Cross Perkins today stood ready to plead the "unwritten law" and defense of her home and babies at her trial in Pulaski circuit court on a charge of murdering "the other woman," Mrs. Pearl Owens of Louisville. It is expected the case will reach the jury late today.

CONGRESS AGAIN IGNORES WISHES OF THE PRESIDENT

Senate Committee Decides to Start Work on Ships at Once

Washington, Feb. 15—(AP)—President Coolidge has suggested that work on the first five of the fifteen cruisers authorized in the naval construction measure begin in the next fiscal year. Within a few hours after his recommendation, a Senate sub-committee voted $700,000 for an immediate start on the five cruisers. It was the second time that the President's wishes with regard to the cruiser bill have been disregarded. He first sought the removal of the time clause requiring that work on the fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier begin before July 1, 1931, but both houses left the time clause in when they passed the measure, and now he has lost the first skirmish to have the inauguration of the construction program delayed until the next fiscal year.

The President recommended $12,370,000 for starting work on five of the cruisers and this was taken to mean that he considered the whole program deferred for a year, despite the retention of the time clause in the bill.

When the President's recommendation and the action of the sub-committee revived interest in the cruiser bill, there were reports that another naval armaments conference would soon be proposed by Great Britain. This was received in official circles without comment, but close friends of President-elect Hoover intimated that they believed his attitude on such an armaments conference to be favorable.

Louisiana Governor One Up in His Fight on New Orleans Club

New Orleans, La., Feb. 15—(AP)—Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana today claimed a one-up victory in his fight against gambling in New Orleans.

The Governor went into the lead in the battle Wednesday night when national guard troops swept down upon night clubs and confiscated $11,800 at the Trachina Club, after a search of guests. The Trachina Club's proprietor, William C. Thomas, evaded the score when he obtained a temporary injunction in a Baton Rouge court restraining state authorities from disposing of the seized cash.

Governor Long jumped back into the lead last night when he announced that the money already had been disposed of, deposited to the credit of the state treasury.

"That money belongs to the state of Louisiana now," said the Governor, "and the gamblers will have to get the legislature to pass an act to restore the money to them. I don't think they will have much luck with the legislature."

"Scarface" Submitted to Interview Friday

Miami, Fla., Feb. 15—(AP)—"Scarface" Al Capone, Chicago racketeer, left his palatial Miami Beach home long enough yesterday to answer questions by Acting District Attorney Louis Goldstein of New York and to assert to newspapermen that he intended to stay in Florida indefinitely.

The nature of Capone's conference with Goldstein was not disclosed, although it was learned unofficially that New York authorities considered the conference of great importance in their investigation of the killing of Frankie Yale, of Yale, in Brooklyn July 1, 1928.

Capone refused to discuss the conference with Goldstein. "I was unable to find out what it was all about," he said. "All I did was answer a lot of questions that probably wouldn't interest anybody."

Marshal Foch is Growing Stronger

Paris, Feb. 15—(AP)—Marshal Foch again showed an overnight improvement according to his three physicians, who this morning resumed issuance of official bulletins as to his condition.

His communique said: "There has been an amelioration of the pulmonary symptoms. The state of the kidneys is quite satisfactory. Temperature 99.8; pulse 82. (Signed) Degennes, Daveniere, Heitz-Boyer."

Evening Telegraph City Subscribers will confer a great favor to their news boy by having 29c ready for the boy each Saturday morning when he calls to collect.

"MAD OILER" OF FREIGHTER WAS FINALLY SAVED

Coast Guard Cutter is Unable to Drag Ship Off the Rocks

Seattle, Feb. 15—(AP)—Warning that the disabled freighter Alloway was adrift and menacing navigation at Unimak Pass, Aleutian Islands, was broadcast by the Naval radio station here today after unsuccessful efforts had been made by the Coast Guard cutter Chelan to tow her to safety.

The hopes of James L. Posey of Seattle, oiler and storekeeper of the Alloway, of receiving a generous reward in salvage because he stayed with his ship after the other 33 members of the crew had been rescued, received a setback as the Chelan reported that the derelict had been lost in fog and darkness.

Posey was called "the mad oiler of the Alloway" because he refused to leave the ship last Tuesday as a fierce storm drove her toward the rocks of Aiktaik Island. After serving single-handed for two days as the captain and crew of the freighter Posey was taken aboard the Chelan last night. The Chelan's physician pronounced him physically and mentally sound.

HOOVER STARTS INSPECTION OF FLOOD DISTRICT

Accompanied by Florida Officials on Two-Day Tour

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 15—(AP)—President-elect Hoover left his vacation home on Belle Isle at 8:30 A. M. today for a two-day automobile trip through the Lake Okechobee district of Florida.

He is making the journey at the invitation of Governor Doyle E. Carlton so that he may have a close up view of the conditions which in the view of Florida officials call for federal aid both for flood control and the improvement of navigation.

With him were the Governor, who arrived at Miami early this morning, and who was a breakfast guest of Mr. Hoover; members of the Florida Landreth Board, and Representative Frank R. Reid of Illinois, chairman of the Flood Control committee of the House of Representatives.

Major General Edgar Jadwin, Chief of Army Engineers, who already has proposed to Congress an appropriation of more than seven million dollars for flood control in the Everglades district, was to join the party near Canal Point, on Lake Okechobee, as he made a special trip from Washington in order to accompany the President-elect.

Bognor, Sussex, Eng., Feb. 15—(AP)—The Prince of Wales today paid his royal father his first visit since the latter's removal last week to Craiguel House.

The Prince motored here this morning from Southampton, where he arrived earlier by boat after one day stay in France. He came in a closed car which he drove himself. He found the King doing well in his new quarters, despite the cold weather handicap. The official report said His Majesty had passed a good night and his condition remained satisfactory.

FEDERAL OFFICIAL THINKS KILLERS POLICEMEN ANGRY AT CESSATION OF TRIBUTE

States Attorney Believes Detroit Gang Was Imported to Kill Off Moran Racketeers Thursday Morning

Chicago, Feb. 15—(AP)—Two startling theories as to the identity of the gunmen who invaded the Moran gang's stronghold yesterday and shot and killed seven men lined up against a wall were advanced today by a federal agent and the State's Attorney.

Major Frank D. Silloway, Assistant Prohibition Administrator, expressed the opinion that the killers were policemen angry because the Moran gang had refused to pay for further protection and declared he expected to know the names of the slayers by tonight.

John A. Swanson, the State's Attorney, said he believed the slayers were members of the "Purple Gang" of Detroit imported here for the purpose by enemies of the Moran gang who had gained the idea by reading a fiction story in a weekly magazine.

Silloway's Theory
Major Silloway expressed the belief that the killings yesterday were the direct outgrowth of a hijacking job here six weeks ago when 500 cases of whiskey were taken from the Moran gang by a west side liquor running outfit. Major Silloway said he did not believe the theft of the liquor by one faction from the other could have been carried out in broad daylight on a well traveled boulevard without police assistance. The Moran gang, he said, apparently got the same idea and cut off tribute that the prohibition officer said the gang had paid the police.

Major Silloway said he believed the killings were in retaliation for stopping the protection money and declared he expected to gain information as to the actual killers during the day.

Were Police Uniforms?
He said that some of the killers wore police uniforms, that an automobile resembling a police squad car with a gang on the side was used by them and that the slayers evidently were well known to the Moran gang as they were admitted without question.

The statement of Major Silloway met with a hot denial from the police department whose officers said gangsters posing as policemen were the killers.

Meanwhile, a Coroner's inquest into the deaths of the seven victims was opened with prominent business men on the jury, although today's session promised to be little more than a formality. Federal, state, county and city officials coordinating their efforts were rounding up every known gangster in the hope that they would thereby obtain some clues to the killers although they admitted they were working in the dark.

Blind Alley Ahead
A blind alley lay ahead of police today as they sought the trial of slayers in Chicago's latest, and bloodiest, of all gang killings.

With a day and night of investigation behind, police still sought a clue to the shooting down of sl. gangsters and a doctor yesterday morning.

James Clark, another of yesterday's dead, was a brother-in-law of Moran, with a reputation as a crack marksman with a rifle. He is listed by police as a member of the "punishing squad" of the gang.

One Safe-Blower
Alfred Weinshank was a north side cafe owner whose affiliation with Moran took place comparatively recently. John May, at first believed to have been only an automobile mechanic and an innocent victim, was known to police as a safe blower before joining Moran. In his pocket were found two St. Christopher medals—medals generally provided by women relatives to a person inclined to evil, the belief being that prayers by the donor and the possessor will aid in fighting temptation.

Adam Heyers, the other dead man, was the "front" for the gang, taking care of the legitimate activities such as renting "plants" and buildings required in conducting the gang "business."

Heads of the federal prohibition department announced last night that the government might take a hand in the investigation. Department agents were to attend the inquest this morning to determine if there were any basis for federal action.

A SONG OF THE HARP
Isult, Isult, Ireland.
The years are born again,
Again tintle's towers stand,
And blows the corn again,
The russet corn again.

Again, again the shoreward waves
Make wondrous undertone,
That whispers down the forest
When melody is flown,
When twilight birds are flown.

Isult, Isult, remember thou
How soft the music swept—
Nay till the lily moon arow
I'll dream that time has slept,
All flower-like has slept.

So softly was the harping wrought
As in the web of sound,
The wings of melody were caught,
And fluttered music bound,
And moth-winged music bound.

Isult, Isult, when night is drawn
I'll cross the Irish sea,
And in the moon's white fragrant dawn
Steal down the dusk to thee,
Across the years to thee.

—Archibald Macleish, in "Towers of Ivory."

The marriage of an Ashton couple held in high esteem by many friends was solemnized in Dixon Thursday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock, at the parsonage to the Baptist church, with Rev. W. W. Marshall, pastor of the church officiating at the ceremony. At this time George M. Meister and Mrs. Mildred Bond, both of Ashton were married. They were accompanied and attended by Mr. and Mrs. C. Pfeiffer, both of Ashton. Both Mr. and Mrs. Meister have many friends here and in Ashton who extend best wishes.

LADIES OF G. A. R. TO MEET MONDAY

building Monday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Walter W. Marshall, pastor of the Baptist church will deliver the address and vocal selections will be given by Mrs. Coral Lambert. All of the officers and members are urged to be present.

Rev. A. T. Stephenson's Speech Feature of Meet

The Women's Relief Corps held their regular meeting Monday evening in G. A. R. hall, with all the officers present. At the Secretary and Color Bearer No. 3, whose places were filled by Mrs. Nellie Eastman and Mrs. Bennett, respectively. Three candidates were balloted on and two applications for membership were read. Mrs. E. Demarest, chairman of the relief committee, reported making five calls and giving clothing to the needy. Mrs. M. Jones reported giving clothing to the value of $60. Mrs. E. J. Decker and Mrs. Gertrude Carpenter were installed as Musician and Garter. Past Dept. President Mrs. Nellie Eastman officiating as installing officer, and Mrs. Ethel Watson as installing conductor.

The Patriotic Instructor then took charge of the program reading a paper concerning Abraham Lincoln's life. Rev. A. T. Stephenson, pastor of the Methodist church, was escorted to the platform and introduced, after which he delivered a fine tribute to Lincoln, which was greatly enjoyed. The meeting closed in form.

Takes Rides on Romantic Bridle Paths Near Mexico City

Mexico City, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Hours-long horseback rides about the shaded bridle paths of Bosque de Chapultepec (Chapultepec Woods) afford Miss Anne Morrow plenty of time these days for introspective pondering about the life which will soon be hers.

It is a romantic setting, one which charmed her husband-to-be, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who flew over it often while in Mexico City.

Three hundred feet above the bridle paths is the Castle of Chapultepec, traditional home of Mexico's rulers since Carlota and Maximilian reconstructed it. The hill on which the castle is located is cloaked with flowers and was once an Aztec fortress.

Small lakes by the side of the bridlepaths are dotted with large perfectly white swans which swim up to riders for possible bits of food. Tall Mexican Cypress trees, as much as 200 feet high, some of them antedating the conquest, abound and make the park cool and peaceful.

Lovers make it a trysting place, and from its higher spots the Valley of Mexico may be seen in all its beauty. Mexicans and Americans alike frequent it. And there someone seeking solitude and her own thoughts may find it without difficulty.

February Meeting So. Side Grade P. T. A.

The South Side Grade P. T. A. meeting for February was held in the South Side High School Assembly room Thursday, Feb. 14, at 3:45.

The speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. J. W. Mucker of Rock Island, vice president of the Illinois State Parent-Teacher Association, and she spoke on Founders' day, this being the annual meeting in honor of this event. Mrs. Mucker was introduced to the audience by Mrs. H. C. Bartholomew who presided at the meeting and who has consented to act in the capacity of president for the remainder of the school year, the vacancy being made when Mrs. Richard Gartman, who was the efficient president, moved away. There has been no meeting of the Grade P. T. A. since Dec. 12th.

Miss Lella Schick pleased all with several piano numbers. In her address Mrs. Mucker told of the inception of Founders' Day, two women forming the first association thirty-two years ago, 1897.

It has grown rapidly and now numbers a million or more. The parent-teachers organization is of great importance to the parent and teacher and to the child, and much good could be cited by each teacher in regard to the benefits therefrom, and many mothers have good cause to think of it with appreciation and gratitude.

Mrs. L. L. McGinnis was the chairman of the committee in charge of the social hour which was much enjoyed and appetizing refreshments were served.

Bridge Dinner Delightful Affair

Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Ives and Mrs. K. J. Reed entertained at the Ives home with a most enjoyable Valentine bridge dinner, last evening. After the elegantly appointed dinner was served bridge occupied the happy evening hours. Cut flowers and valentine motifs were employed in the artistic decorations, the favors and place cards being especially charming.

Mrs. W. H. Coppins was awarded the favor for high honors for the ladies; and Dr. F. L. Hamilton won the favor for high score for the gentlemen. Mrs. Ray Miller was awarded the second favor for the ladies and Dr. A. F. Moore was presented with the second score favor for the men.

This evening twelve friends will be guests at the Ives home.

Pastor Brought Couple to Lee County to Wed

Sterling—When Miss Katherine A. Christine and Elmer E. Byers of Dixon arrived at the Baptist church parsonage to be married Wednesday night, Rev. J. G. Little discovered that their license to wed had been issued in Lee county. Under the state law of Illinois a marriage license must be obtained in the same county where the ceremony is to take place.

Having had very little experience in such matters, the pastor was puzzled over the situation and

Mrs. L. L. McGinnis was the chairman of the committee in charge of phoned to a lawyer. He was advised that the best thing to do would be to accompany the couple several miles out on the highway, and perform the ceremony over the Lee county line.

The complication was solved, however, when Raymond Rutt of Prairieville happened in at the parsonage just after Rev. Little had talked to the lawyer. He listened to the story and then invited the couple to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Rutt, at Prairieville, to be married. Rev. Little accompanied the couple and performed the ceremony at 7 o'clock. The attendants were Miss Lucille Williams and Ellis L. Byers.

Frances Willard Memorial Wednesday

The Frances Willard memorial meeting was held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Methodist church. The president Mrs. A. J. Earnest, presided at the business of the program, followed by a very pleasing and interesting program by the committee. Mrs. Alice Missman, Mrs. D. C. Leake and Miss Plant, the crusade hymn, "With Thee," by Miss Callie B. Morgan as pianist.

Mrs. Alice Missman led the devotionals, reading psalm 146th, the crusade psalm, followed by several prayers. Salute to the flag was given. Miss Callie B. Morgan, treasurer, gave her report.

Letters were read in regard to the membership campaign which is to be pressed from January 15th to the end of May. Directions sent out by the state President, Secretary and Treasurer.

A letter was read from Edward

Mills in regard to literature. Mrs. Alice Missman read a very interesting letter from Miss Epha Marshall, State Superintendent of Home Economics. Several bills were voted to be paid by the treasurer. The meeting was then turned over to the program committee.

Mrs. D. C. Leake read a poem composed by Edward Mills on "Frances Willard" and recited "Aloha Oe," two very enjoyable numbers. Mrs. Wendell Drummond gave a very pleasing solo. "A Thousand Years of Prohibition" responding to the hearty encore by singing "Quit you like men be strong." Two numbers very much enjoyed. Mrs. H. Tygenck as accompanist. All joined in singing "Oh Master Let Me Walk With Thee." Two very pleasing instrumental duets were given by Misses Evelyn and Virginia Schumacker. "Morning Prayer," melody by L. Strassberg, and "Aloha Oe," by Henry I. Sawyer. The members are always so pleased for the numbers given by the younger people.

Collection was taken. The meeting closed with benediction by Miss Plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle McCartney Surprised

About forty neighbors and friends very pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Merle McCartney and family at their home near Nachusa with a farewell party. The evening was spent visiting.

playing progressive 500 and various other games. At a late hour delicious refreshments were served from well filled baskets which the guests brought with them, and after all had enjoyed the supper, to show the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. McCartney are held in that community, Bert Ortgiesen in a very appropriate speech presented them with a very pretty end table as a token of remembrance from the assembled guests.

Mrs. McCartney responded in her gracious manner, thanking them all for their kind and lovely remembrance.

At a late hour all reported of having had a very pleasant evening and retired to their respective homes, wishing the family good luck in their new home.

The McCartneys are moving to Dixon where Mr. McCartney has accepted a position in the Geo. Netty & Co. garage.

P. E. O. TO MEET ON MONDAY AFTERNOON—

Chapter AC, Illinois P. E. O. will meet Monday afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. F. L. Hamilton, 124 E. Boyd street. Mrs. Harry Lager will be the assistant hostess. Miss Josephine Nichols will read the paper of the afternoon on "Wagner."

HOOVER JOINS THE SCOUTS.

Herbert Hoover, President-Elect of the United States has become interested in Boy Scout work, has studied the course required of boys, passed his tests, been elevated through the various grades and degrees and has now been made an Eagle Scout.

Mr. Hoover's interest in this splendid movement should have a salutary effect on Boy and Girl Scout work.

WHERE COLLEGE STUDENTS COME FROM.

What class of the population provides the largest proportion of college students?

Statistics recently gathered at the University of Illinois provide a partial answer to this question. Of the 11,000-odd students there, 5180 are sons and daughters of business men. Oddly enough, the next largest division of parents is that classified as skilled and unskilled laborers; 2061 students come from such parents. Farmers rank third, with 1766, and the professions, with 1719, are fourth.

Incidentally, half of the students come from cities of 25,000 or over. Chicago alone contributes more than 3000.

These figures are extremely interesting. They give a valuable light on the backgrounds of the young men and women who are being trained for leadership.

THE MARINES DO TRAVEL.

Join the U. S. marine corps and see the world!

The catchword of the blue-clad recruiting sergeant is pretty nearly justified, at that. Major John A. Lejeune, retiring commandant of the corps, reveals in his annual report that in 1928 approximately two-thirds of the entire corps saw service outside the United States.

The bulk of these, of course, went to Nicaragua. A large detachment was in China, and a good many more served in Haiti. Then, in addition, the marine contingents on various battleships and cruisers did considerable traveling.

It begins to look as if the recruiting sergeant's slogan just about fits the facts.

Mrs. Whitney, who drew up those 14 commandments for her "model husband" to follow, has been granted a divorce in Reno. That seems to call for something, but we don't know whether it's condolences or congratulations.

Millions of postcards go to the dead letter office because of poor addresses. There ought to be some sort of warning in this for some of the radio announcers.

John D. Rockefeller has started mixing nickles with his dimes in gifts to acquaintances and friends. This bull market probably isn't going to last much longer.

The army can't get its new dress uniforms because of a shortage in the supply of gold braid. At last, a legitimate reason for disposing of a few admirals!

A Boston man slapped his wife as she slept, according to a divorce petition. The men are getting a little bolder all the time.

Cheer up. Look at Charlie Curtis and Joe Robinson. One of them has to be vice president.

Whatever has become of Senator Charles Curtis? Wasn't he elected to something or other this fall?

Only a couple of weeks now and we can send those incense burners we got last year to some of our friends.

Once upon a time there was a country so small that it didn't even have one good-will flyer.

The father may be the head of the home, but mother usually is the receiver.

Chairman Robinson of the Federal Radio Commission feels that the air should be censored of "cuss words," but what with static and sopranos, it will take more than an edict of the commission to regulate father.

Schools are offering correspondence courses in saxophone playing and now there is a reason for shooting the mailman.

Sunday baseball is allowed now in Boston. All the town needs is a couple of big league ball teams to play it.

People who get to the bottom of things often come out on top.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Trouble Tots and Tinymites had known a lot of other frights, but now they all were more scared than they'd ever been before. The basket they were riding in was very big, but rather thin. They knew that it would sink and wondered just what was in store.

Said Clowzy, "We are faring bad, and as for me, I'll be real glad if we just have a break of luck and soon get out of this. To ride this basket was insane. I'll never do things like that again. You may call this a thrill, but it's a thing I'd gladly miss."

"Oh, shucks," said Scouty, "please take note that we are safe and still afloat. You're always crying 'oh, oh, oh' now. What good does that do? The rest of us are in for fun, and there is heaps beneath the sun. If just one little thing goes wrong we do not want like you."

Poor Clowzy hushed up right away. There wasn't much that he could say. So everyone kept quiet while the basket drifted slow. A wave came rolling from far back and hit the basket with a smack. It swamped the bunch, and Clowzy cried, "I told you. Here we go!"

And he was right as he could be. The whole bunch flopped into the sea. The basket promptly sank from sight, and left the bunch to swim. Brave Scouty then began to riar. Don't give up hope. Strike out for shore. We all have had a lot of rest, and ought to feel in trim."

It was a rather funny sight to see them swim with all their might. One Tiny set a speedy pace, and toward the shore they went. Just when the land was within reach, they saw the Sea Man on the beach. "Ha, ha," said he, "Look what you got for being pleasure bent."

(The bunch dry their clothes in the next story.)

THE INAUGURAL PAGEANT
From Washington to Hoover

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
(Associated Press Feature Writer)
Washington—(AP)—Three hours after the death of Lincoln, Andrew Johnson, erstwhile tailor, who had been taught by his wife to write and figure, began his turbulent administration as the seventeenth President of the United States.

Johnson, who was democratic war-time governor of Tennessee and a bitter opponent of secession, took the oath of office in his rooms at the Kirkwood house, now the site of the Raleigh hotel, in Washington. The oath was administered by Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase, in the presence of members of the cabinet and a small group of senators and representatives.

A grief-stricken city and union-paid scant attention to the induction of the new President and there were no inaugural ceremonies. For weeks after Lincoln's death the newspapers had black-bordered columns devoted to the "national calamity," the hunt for the assassins and demands for punishment of the "conspirators."

The military power of the Confederacy was crushed, the war was coming to a close and Jefferson Davis was a fugitive in women's clothes with an offer of $100,000 reward by President Johnson for his capture. The Washington Evening Star displayed in bold letters a headline which read: "Jeff Davis is Skedaddling for Texas with 2,000 Rebel Cavalry, a Gloomy Cavalcade."

During the Johnson occupancy of the White House there was a continual procession of job hunters and pardon seekers. A newspaper of the day said:

"Hundreds of pardon seekers daily besiege the White House. They crowd into the ante-room and are ushered into the President's presence; if found all right on the record, they are pardoned, otherwise not. President Johnson is still busy pardoning southerners who are worth more than $20,000, about 3,000 having taken out their papers, while about 50,000 applications have been made."

The press of the period laments the entrance of women into politics in the role of lobbyists.

"It is a noticeable fact, and by no means a credit to the age, that there is a growing inclination to use the gentler sex in manipulating the political wires. In the lobbies of congress during the last week, about the departments at all times and at the White House, this element largely prevails.

"And it is observable that they are not the wives, sisters or daughters of those whose interests they represent. In most cases they are purely professional wire-pullers, who for a consideration undertake the prosecution of any claim, secure the appointment of their principals to office, or labor for the passage of bills."

"Relying on the defence usually paid to the sex, they thrust themselves in where the most venturesome man would be repulsed; and once obtaining the official ear they plead their cause with a pertinacity that will not be denied."

Senator J. R. Doolittle of Wisconsin, a contemporary, describes President Johnson as of "full medium stature, compact and strongly built, of dark complexion and deep set black eyes. He is of strong intellect, indomitable energy and iron will."

The gloom which the war and the death of Lincoln placed on the White House was dispelled in time, and social events regained some of their old brilliancy. Mrs. Johnson was an invalid, her two daughters acting as hostesses at the executive mansion. A contemporary writes of the change:

"The most gorgeous display of rich toilets has now taken the place of the blue overcoats of the private soldiers from the camp and the display of fancy colors by the negroes."

"Ladies arrayed in their rich silks, satins, tarletons and velvets, with their diamonds and jewels, now grace the gatherings. Gentlemen now consider it necessary to appear in their party attire. The general appearance of the rooms when the guests have gathered is that of a fancy dress ball. It is doubtful if any of those grand balls in New York can excel the brilliancy of the dress at these receptions."

Good Thoughts for Good People

Men have been so largely seeking their own good, striving for their own advantage, giving comparatively so little thought to the needs and desires of others—that a true sense of kinship has been sadly lacking in human affairs. Selfishness as a deterrent to harmonious associations is quite readily discerned, and every Christian will acknowledge that to practice the Golden Rule is the way to overcome the difficulty.

Let us then, untiringly bury all our idle feuds in dust. And to future conflicts carry mutual faith and common trust; Always be who most forgiveth. In his brother, is most just.

America first—not in pride, arrogance, and disdain; on other races and peoples, but in sympathy, love and understanding.

Christmas is not a time or a season, but a state of mind. To cherish peace and good will, to be plenteous in mercy, is to have the real spirit of Christmas. If we think on these things, there will be born in us a Saviour and over us will shine a star sending its gleam of hope to the world.

As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.—Luke

Poets' Corner

THE FARMER
There's health in the brawn of the man with the plow,
There's courage to labor and toil;
There's vim in each step as he strives to endow
The world with his harvest of moid.
The Presbyterian Guild will meet with Miss Mary Evelyn Miller, 622 N. Ottawa Ave. on Tuesday evening, Feb. 19th at 7:30. Will all members remember and be present?
There will be a great Presbyterian Men's Convention at Hotel LaSalle Chicago, Feb. 22nd. It would be fine for Dixon to have a representative.

The snow still may oillow the fences around,
And cotton-like cling to the shade,
But silently, surely the farmer is found
Pursuing his tasks unafraid.
Serenely he steadfastly soweth the seed,
His confidence placed in the One
Whose omnipotence not a man can exceed—
Who planted the worlds round the sun.

The bright, brilliant heaven smiles down on the field;
The sunshine surrenders a kiss;
The fast-falling summer showers silently wield
A charm which the seed cannot miss.

With tractor the farmer now does in one day,
The work which he used to take three;
But horses are utilized less every way,
A civilization decree.

Though days may be cold, or may sizzle with heat,
He sows, or he plants, or he reaps;
Some seasons he scarcely has time left to eat.

And but a few moments he sleeps.
His sleeves are both furled and his bosom is tanned
When mowing the sweet-scented hay;
Then harvest-time comes, and the gay threshing band
Makes merry what moments they may.
His life is a mixture of ups and of downs,
A gamble with weather and weed;
He hauls all his grain and he sells it in towns;
The price partly pays for the seed.
The price of the corn, and the oats, and the wheat,
Is high when the grain doesn't grow;
But when heavy harvest hangs, then they retreat
And prices are laggard and low.

The farmer is the reservoir serving mankind;
The farmer feeds faithfully all;
With strong, stalwart strength he continues the grind
Of labor which tends to enthrall.

Franklin Grove, Ill.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?—Galatians 4:16.

Truth is tough. It will not break like a bubble, at a touch; nay, you may kick it around all day, like a football, and it will be round and full at evening.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS WALTONIANS AMBITIOUS IN PROGRAM

Local Chapter Adopts Forward-Looking Plan for Year

At the annual meeting of Dixon Chapter, No. 65, Izak Walton League held last evening at the Elks club house, a program of activities was outlined to be started at once. Outstanding among the activities planned for the next year are:

Plans for obtaining state game refuge for vicinity of Dixon and naming of special committee to accomplish this.

Adoption of resolution asking government to become bird sanctuary in this locality, funds being forwarded to Senator Charles S. Deneen and Gov. Glenn and Congressman William R. Johnson.

Adoption of resolution addressed to members of legislature from this district, asking to have northern zone of Illinois declared closed territory to the hunting or shooting of pheasants and prairie chickens for a period of two years.

To seek to have dove hunting season advanced 15 days, opening August 15 instead of September 1 and closing September 15 instead of September 30.

Effort to have restriction placed on catching of bass with pole and line lifted entirely.

To hold sporting show this spring to secure fund with which to carry on program of feeding birds in bad weather and to be used for propagation purposes.

Knief Re-Elected
Louis Knief was the unanimous selection of the membership present at last evening's meeting for another year of office as president of the local chapter. He has completed two very successful seasons as head of the chapter and the accomplishments of the chapter have largely been through his untiring efforts.

The program outlined for the coming year is even more elaborate than any ever undertaken and the president has been assured the hearty cooperation of every member to help about its accomplishment.

A special committee consisting of President Louis Knief, John E. Moyers, Judge William L. Leech, Harry C. Warner and George B. Shaw was named to go to Springfield in the interest of the proposed game refuge which has been requested for Dixon.

Changes in the fish and game laws in the northern zone governing this locality, will be forcibly advocated by the league membership. A resolution which received the unanimous adoption of the membership, requests that the legislature declare the northern zone closed territory to the hunting or shooting of prairie chickens or pheasants for a period of two years. This action was taken for the protection of the few remaining flocks of these birds in an effort to increase their numbers throughout the northern section of Illinois.

Want Season Changes
The chapter also voted to request the Illinois legislature to change the dove hunting season in the northern zone, making the open season on these birds from August 15 to September 15 instead of from September 1 to October 1 as at present. This action was taken in an effort to provide better hunting for those in the northern zone who enjoy dove shooting. The birds for several seasons past have for the most part migrated south before the hunter in the northern zone has an opportunity to secure any shooting.

An effort will also be made to secure a change in the fishing law, which makes a violation for the catching of bass with a pole and line at certain times of the year. It has been suggested that pike in the northern waters, which are a far more valuable game fish are practically unprotected and that the catching of bass with hook and line would have no effect, but would be beneficial in the waters in which these fish abound. Representatives John P. Devine, George C. Dixon, Henry Allen and D. E. Warren of this district are to be consulted and their support sought in carrying out this section of the chapter's program.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:
President—Louis Knief.
Vice Pres.—L. G. Adams.
Secretary—V. L. Schrock.
Treasurer—John L. Davies.
Delegates to state convention at Mattoon—Louis Knief, Lloyd Lewis, H. A. Rodsch.

Alternate delegates—George Netta, Vernon Schrock, E. L. Fulmer.

To Sponsor Show
The Dixon Chapter will sponsor a sporting show to be held this spring, the proceeds from which will be used in providing a fund for the feeding of game birds in the event of a bad winter such as has been experienced this season, and in the carrying on of other preservation and propagation activities as are undertaken. L. G. Adams was named general chairman of this committee.

President Knief reported having received fine support in the appeal for funds with which to carry on the work of feeding quail in Lee county. Several cash donations have been received for the purchase of grain for this purpose, many of these coming from women who have become interested in the activities of the local Waltonians. The chapter highly commended the work and activities of the state game wardens serving in this section of Illinois and for the cooperation received in the feeding of quail this winter.

HOT SPOT FOR CHARLEY

The champion St. Louis Cardinals will have to stand or sink this year largely upon the performance of a rookie shortstop, Charley Gelbert, the son of a distinguished University of Pennsylvania athlete.

It has happened before that a rookie came up to an important spot like short and made good. Joe Sewell did it years ago with the Cleveland Indians and his was a tougher spot than the one young Gelbert will assume.

The Cleveland Indians were fighting for the pennant in 1920 when Ray Chapman, their star shortstop, was hit on the head by a ball pitched by Carl Mays and died from the effects of the injury. The Indians, of course, had to have another shortstop and they snared young Sewell fresh from the campus at the University of Alabama and he made good.

The St. Louis Browns uncovered a star shortstop last season when they produced Kress from their minor league farm and they even went a little better by bringing a good second baseman right up from the same team. The work of Kress and Brannan put the Browns into the money and made them the most surprising team of the year.

These sensational rookies aren't uncovered every year by everybody and if the Browns did get away with a rather wild experiment it doesn't mean that the Cardinals will come through with the same success.

THEY THINK HE'S GOOD

The St. Louis owners made a display of great confidence in the rookie Gelbert when they promoted him from the Rochester International League farm and told him that he was expected to be the regular shortstop.

They made even a more convincing gesture to prove their faith in him when they dismissed their two regular shortstops, Thevenow and Maranville. Thus the proposition was put up to the young man that he had to become the regular player in a very warm spot.

AS GOOD AS $150,000

Billy Southworth, the new manager of the club, does not seem to be worried. In comparison to his own position no other spot on the ball club can be considered a real hot one and he may consider that the shortstop business is no great worry. Southworth managed the Rochester club into a championship last year and he should know something about the capabilities of Gelbert.

"He's faster than Frisch," he said recently. "He's faster than Frisch. He can hit better than any other man on the St. Louis club and he can throw better than George Kelly did in the days when he was a real thrower."

Southworth also let it be known, in appraising the value of the boy that he would be worth a lot of money to several other ball clubs and that two scouts who saw him in the International League said they would have offered $150,000 as a starter for him if he hadn't been the property of the Cards.

THEY NEED PITCHERS

If the Cardinals fail to win the pennant this year the blame can be tossed entirely in the lap of Gelbert, however. He might turn out to be another Hank Wagner and yet not be able to produce enough runs or stop enough to save some of the St. Louis pitchers.

Dempsey Will Use Big Stick if Needed

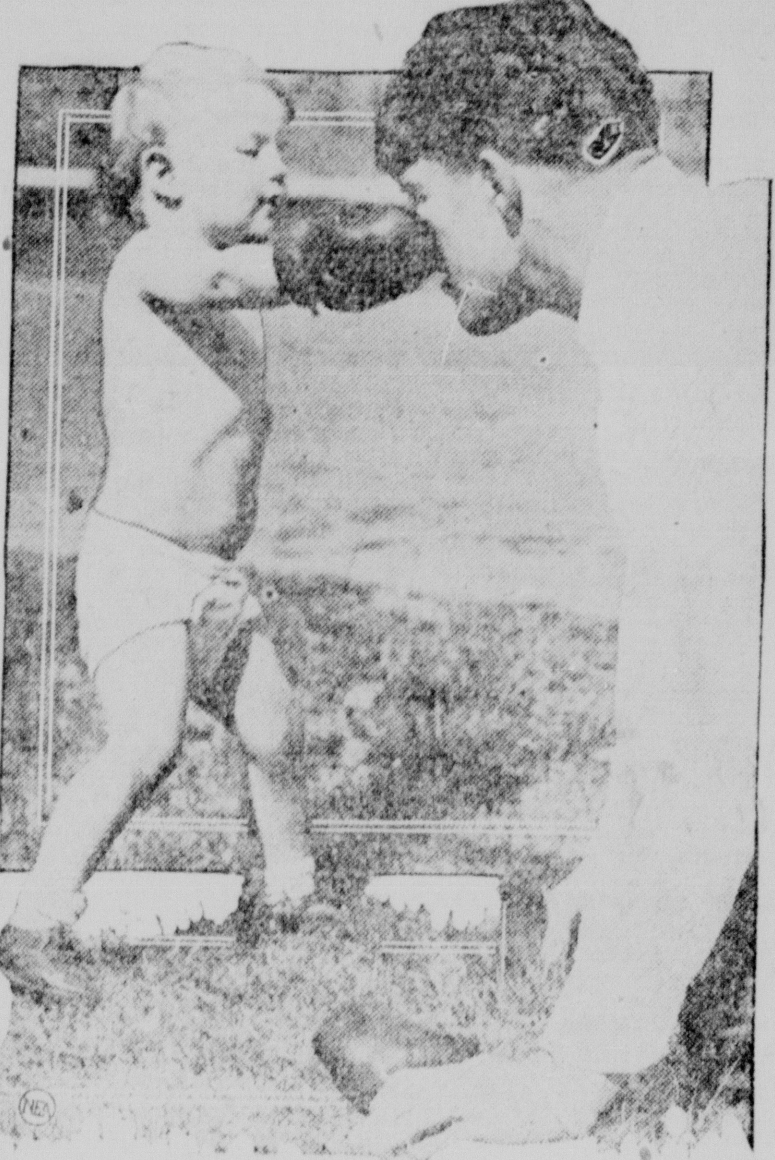

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 13—(AP)—Promoter Jack Dempsey today was prepared to use the big stick, if necessary, to maintain peace and quiet between "Pa" Stribling and Johnny Buckley, manager of the principals in his February 27 battle at Flamingo Park, when they meet to spar over the selection of a referee.

He expected to take no part in the actual selection, he said, as long as the managers seemed to agree, but he warned Stribling and Buckley that any unnecessary loud talking would end negotiations. In that event, Dempsey will name the third man in the ring tomorrow.

While Sharkey hammered the heavy bags and went through three rounds with sparring partners, Young Stribling left with his brother "Baby" for Melbourne, Fla., where he will second the youngster in a fight tonight. The Georgia battler will return here late today.

When you need a renewal of engraved calling cards bring your plate to the B. F. Shaw Printing Co. if Heals the best foot powder on the market.

Young Stribling Takes the Count

"Smack! Right on the ol' bezer. Atta boy, sonny!" Young Stribling will go into the ring against Jack Sharkey at Miami with at least one clean knockout against his record—and that from the right hand of a yet younger Stribling. But it's all in the family and probably never would have become known if the cameraman hadn't strolled along just as this fighter's 2-year-old son delivered the punch.

WILDCATS MAY HAVE COMPLETE TEAM IN FIELD

Rut Walter, Recovered from Injury, is Ready to Play

Chicago, Feb. 15—(AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats, who tumbled Michigan from undisputed possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball champion race, may throw their full strength against Purdue in the headline battle of the five-game card tomorrow night.

"Rut" Walter, who has been out of the game for several weeks because of a leg injury, has returned to practice and if needed will be used against the Boilermakers. Walter is one of the best shots in the Big Ten, a brilliant defense man and a clever passer. He may be shifted to guard to prevent a recurrence of his injury.

Defeat for Purdue would leave Michigan and Wisconsin deadlocked for first place providing they win their game tomorrow night against Minnesota and Indiana, respectively. Michigan is expected to hand Minnesota its seventh straight defeat, but Wisconsin may be upset by the Hoosiers, who have been losing all their games by one, two and three point margins.

Sioux City Battler Gets Test This Eve

Detroit, Feb. 15—(AP)—Gerald Ambrose Griffith, the tough one from Sioux City, Ia., meets the test of his career tonight when he engages Leo Lonski, recognized as the leading challenger for the world's light heavyweight championship in a 10 round contest.

The bout will be to a referee's decision at the light heavyweight, 175 pounds. Indications today were that the battle would be witnessed by a crowd of 12,000 to 15,000 with receipts at $40,000 to $50,000.

Jackie Fields Takes on Baby Joe Tonight

New York, Feb. 15—(AP)—Now a welterweight, Jackie Fields, clever Los Angeles product, renews the feud he began as featherweight with his fellow-townsman, Baby Joe Gans, in a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Fields outpointed the Negro star in a close match on the Pacific coast several years ago when both were fighting in the 126 pound class. They renew their struggle tonight with Fields a full-fledged 147-pounder and Gans a junior welterweight.

Walker and Hudkins Will Mix July 4th.

Los Angeles, Feb. 15—(AP)—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, will defend his title at Las Vegas, Nev., on July 4 against Ace Hudkins, Nebraska "Wildcat."

Announcement that Jack Kearns had signed for the champion was made here yesterday by Tom Kennedy, once a heavyweight fighter and now trying out the role of promoter.

The purse at stake in the battle will be the biggest ever put up for a middleweight titular struggle, according to Kennedy's announcement. Walker will defend his title at 160 pounds under the agreement with the promoter.

Cubs Have Ordered Some Natty Uniforms

Chicago, Feb. 15—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs have ordered some natty new uniforms for the 1929 season. A scarlet leather-lined coat with navy blue and leather sleeves will replace the old jackets and on the chest will be an eight-inch Chenille bear. Home suits will be solid white with a "C" and cub bear on the left breast. Road uniforms will be dark gray with a two-toned "Chicago" across the breast red on blue. On the left sleeve will be a silk Chenille bear.

Over this city, more than any other in the land, broods the great figure of Abraham Lincoln. His home during the formative years of his life, it also was his tomb in death. As a result Springfield has become one of the world's great shrines, attracting thousands of visitors from all parts of the world. The history at the tomb contains the names of more famous men and women of this and past generations than any other known record.

In the tomb of the emancipator has been gathered together a priceless collection of Lincolniana. His vast collection has become too vast for its present modest quarters but no steps seem to have been taken to provide a fitting home for this wealth of material.

Naturally Springfield, so intimately connected with the life of the civil war president, has many other reminders of the days when he was a country lawyer and legislator. Here is preserved the only home that Lincoln ever owned. It has been acquired and is maintained by the state and is open to visitors.

The Old State House, where Lincoln sat as a law maker and where his body lay in state after it was brought back to his home town, is situated in the center of Lincoln Square, and now is used as the county court house. It was a two story structure in Lincoln's day, but it has been jacked up since and a third story added.

Bronze tablets mark many of these historic spots including the site of the old railroad depot where Lincoln said his last prophetic farewell to his old friends and neighbors.

Springfield's historic background goes beyond a century. Settled in 1819, it was organized and made the county seat in 1823, and was incorporated as a town and made the state capital in 1837. It is the state's third legislative home—Vandalia and Kaskaskia preceding it. The first session of the general assembly was welcomed at Springfield on Dec. 9, 1827.

In the century since it has become more than a state capital. It has become also a capital of industry and business, and the center of a great mining and agricultural area. Statistics as old as 1925 noted 116 diversified industries with 6,155 employees, an annual payroll of $8,000,000 and an annual products value of $26,000,000. These figures have been added to since. With Honce on His Trip Around State of Illinois

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15—(AP)—I am sitting on the top of the world. Right on a volcano's peak. I may stay here for four years more and I may not last a week.

I may stay on at the same old desk or may move to another room. I may be promoted to another job. Or I may "Fa down and go boom."

There is more truth than poetry in this little verse taken from the columns of the Springfield State-Journal now that the new administration is in and wielding the axe.

At any rate Springfield now is "the top of the world," so far as Illinois is concerned with the state legislature in session and the new state plots assuming the reins of government.

From this spot the biggest news of the state is going to come for the next half year. Some of it already has been spread over the front pages of the newspapers. News-papers and press association staffs have been augmented and special writers have come in to serve up piping hot history as it is in the making.

Springfield today is crowded with legislators and visitors and there is a general aid of bustle and activity, associated with a legislative year.

But legislature or no legislature, Springfield is more than holding its own in the population race of Illinois cities. The government count of 1920 placed the population at 60,000 but estimates today are above 70,000. Springfield is one of a half dozen cities outside of Chicago making toward the 100,000 goal. Peoria and Rockford likely will make the grade when Uncle Sam's enumerators come into Illinois in 1930, and Springfield probably will go over next.

Also Springfield is another city in the skyscraper class. Some pretty tall hotels and business buildings have been put here in the last few years and the tendency of the builders seems to be to go the last building one better. Then, also, the impressive state capital building and other public structures add to the architectural note of the city.

Incidentally, the state building like the pyramids, was built to last. It was twenty-one years in the making. Started in 1867, the last scaffolding was not withdrawn until in 1888.

In its march of progress Springfield is not forgetting beauty. The Springfield city plan, as developed and executed by a zoning and planning commission, already has made a noticeable improvement in the city's physical appearance, and it expects ultimately to put Springfield in the vanguard of American cities of beauty and distinction.

Over this city, more than any other in the land, broods the great figure of Abraham Lincoln. His home during the formative years of his life, it also was his tomb in death. As a result Springfield has become one of the world's great shrines, attracting thousands of visitors from all parts of the world. The list of manufactured articles runs from the "A" of auto accessories to the "W" of watches.

Springfield is in the heart of a great coal producing area and millions of tons of the black diamond have been taken out of Sangamon county. Some of the mines are within the city limits, one of them within sight of the state buildings.

The city's recreational facilities include ten parks with a total area of nearly 1,000 acres, two country clubs, two municipal golf courses and a number of theaters, including a $1,800,000 movie palace. Baseball is brought to the city by the Three-Eye league.

As a publishing center Springfield turns out a dozen magazines, some of them of national circulation, in addition to two dailies, the Illinois State-Register and the Illinois State-Journal, both members of The Associated Press.

Thomas Rees, publishers of the State-Register, probably has a longer record in the newspaper business than any other American publisher. His father, who was in it before him, published the old Keokuk, Iowa, Post and gave Mark Twain his start on a literary career. The late H. W. Glendinn, Mr. Rees' partner for many years, was secretary of the old Northwest Associated Press, and one of his proudest boasts was that he had helped to organize the present association.

The State-Journal, of which Ira Copley of Aurora is publisher, and A. W. Shipton, editor in chief, is one of the oldest newspapers in the state. Its predecessor was the old Sangamon Journal, which dates back to the early 30's. The Journal has started construction of a model 3-story newspaper plant to cost $250,000.

The Associated Press maintains a large bureau in Springfield.

INDIVIDUAL baking dishes are "the things to use" in custard making. They hold a small quantity of the mixture, and the heat penetrates quicker and more evenly to the center.

Hills Bros.' coffee-roasting process, "Controlled Roasting," agrees with this custard-making principle. Only a few pounds at a time pass through the roasters. The flavor is perfectly controlled because every berry is roasted evenly.

Bulk-roasted coffee never has the flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee. And because "Controlled Roasting" belongs to Hills Bros. exclusively, no other coffee can be roasted the same way.

CARLSTROM TOLD DETAILS OF SMALL SUIT SETTLEMENT

Attorney General's Annual Report Submitted to Governor

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Explanation of the out-of-court settlement of the Len Small tax accounting suit for $650,000 was made by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom in his biennial report, submitted to the governor today.

Made as of December 30, 1928, the report was addressed to "His Excellency, Len Small, Governor."

In settling the million dollar accounting suit for $650,000 Carlstrom said he was actuated by the same considerations "that would have actuated me had the case been of private character."

"The total of all items found in this case," the report said, "amounted to $1,025,434.43. An admitted credit of $222,440.59 for interest paid into the state treasury left a net balance of $802,993.40, if all items, contested and otherwise, remaining should be included in the final decree."

Some Unsettled
"Certain" items were admittedly supported by practically no evidence; others were resisted earnestly. A consideration of the situation, together with a desire to terminate this long drawn out litigation, induced me to accept the amount provided to be paid by the stipulation; that is, $650,000 and unpaid costs.

"In the handling of private litigation this settlement would, in my opinion, have been highly acceptable to the complainant, and felt that the same consideration should actuate me in the settlement on behalf of the state."

Constituting a review of litigation handled by the attorney general's office for the last biennium, the report also dealt with the Chicago grand jury investigations, court of claims cases, inheritance taxation and a dozen other subjects.

The Cook county special grand jury were called, he said, on petition of the Chicago bar association to investigate bombings and murders in connection with the election last April and for the general purpose of "getting at the source of crime which had given Chicago such a bad reputation, and suggesting a remedy."

Over two hundred criminal cases, the report said, had been presented to the Supreme Court for review. Outstanding among them was the case of Charley Burger, southern Illinois gang leader who was eventually hanged for murder.

Equal in number to the criminal cases prosecuted by the attorney general were the cases presented to the court of claims. One outstanding case in which the state won a victory was that involving the refunds of corporation franchise taxes. Corporations were seeking the refund of money paid by them under the franchise tax provisions held unconstitutional, and the attorney general contended that corporations were not entitled to recover because they failed to exhaust their legal remedies in a court of competent jurisdiction. This contention was upheld by the court of claims, at an estimated saving to the state of a million dollars.

During the two years the attorney general assisted the state auditor in liquidating twenty-three banks. In one proceeding a stockholder of a bank to be liquidated has questioned the constitutionality of the section of the banking law giving the auditor the power to appoint a receiver for an insolvent bank without court action. This question is now pending before the Supreme Court.

Other subjects dealt with in the report were waterways, hard road cases, the primary acts, insurance cases and corporation franchise and dissolution cases.

THEY DON'T MIX

Port Deposit, Md.—Cigarets and dynamite don't mix. Two workmen watched superintendent of the Cameron Quarry, William P. Cameron, walk down a road with six 10-inch sticks of dynamite in his hands and a cigarette in his mouth. All was serene until they were thrown on their faces by the force of a terrific explosion. Cameron was blown to bits.

$17,000 A LEG

New York—An unusual settlement was made in favor of Mrs. Josephine Donohue here recently when a Supreme Court jury awarded her $17,000 for the loss of a leg suffered in a traffic accident. The judgment was against the owners of two cars and the chauffeur of another. Mrs. Donohue sued for $50,000.

ALL MIXED UP

Chicago—Baby Paul Boehme is "as normal and healthy as the average child" but his heart and liver are on the right side of his body. "It's a case of dextrocardia," says Dr. F. L. Hussey, who made the discovery, "due to an embryonic abnormality, but it does not affect him physically in any way."

ONLY GOOD LUCK, the Finest Spread-for-Bread, stands the Challenge Flavor Test. The secret of its delightful flavor—exactly like that of the most expensive spread—is found in the John F. Jelke Company's selected quality ingredients and the John F. Jelke Company's skill.

One Girl or Two?

SHERLOCK HOLMES himself would have to answer "I can't tell." The sharpest sense of taste fails just as completely in every attempt to distinguish between Jelke GOOD LUCK and an expensive Spread-for-Bread. The saving of many dollars each year on table expenses becomes perfectly simple from the moment you try the Challenge Flavor Test on your own family. Nationally prominent men and women by the score have tried to distinguish one from the other with no success whatever. Ask your grocer and let him send you a pound today.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

RUTH LESTER, secretary, finds the dead body of her employer, "HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock companies, sprawled on the floor of his office. Ruth is engaged to JACK HAYWARD, whose office is just across the narrow airshaft from Borden's.

Petrified with fear, Ruth recalls that Saturday morning Jack had threatened Borden. Ruth runs to Jack's office and, finding him out, searches for his pistol which he had purchased at the same time he had bought an identical weapon for her to keep in her desk. His gun is gone!

When Jack returns, he accuses her of Borden's murder, and while he phones for the police, Ruth, fearing Jack shot Borden across the airshaft, goes to close Borden's window. It is already closed!

Ruth tells CHIEF OF DETECTIVE MORAN that Borden's two Saturday morning visitors, RITA DIHOIS, night club dancer, and "BORDEN," his wife and mother of his two children, who called for her monthly alimony check, Mrs. Borden comes in during the questioning. McManis accuses her of the murder, but she stoutly denies it. Ruth tells McManis of the pistol in her desk but when he looks for it, it, too, is gone! McManis finds the tiny footprints of a pigeon in dried blood on the window ledge and on the floor near the body, which indicates the window was open when Borden was shot. Ruth's fear for Jack increases. McManis questions MORAN, the elevator man, who is afraid Ruth killed her employer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIV

"SHE came right back up. I heard her tell Mr. Hayward she'd forgot her bank book."

"Aw, gee, boss, I didn't mean nothing by what I said," Mickey Moran protested unhappily. "Honest, she couldn't a-killed him! Why, boss you only gotta take one look at Miss Ruth to see she wouldn't hurt a fly—"

"Stick to your story, Moran!" McManis barked. "Miss Lester came right back up to her office, you say Mr. Hayward with her?"

"Now, she told him to wait for her in the lobby, and he did."

"How long?"

"Oh, four or five minutes, I guess, maybe six or seven. I dunno," Mickey protested miserably. "Honest, I dunno! Mr. Hayward kept draggin' out his watch and lookin' at it then finally he rushed into my car and told me to shoot up to the seventh floor. We was early there when the seventh floor signal flashed on, and there Miss Lester was, breathin' hard, like she'd been runnin' and tears in her eyes—"

"Tears!" McManis interrupted. "You're sure of that, Moran?"

"Sure!" the boy affirmed eagerly. "She'd banged her head against the door and hurt her lip. She was holdin' her handkerchief up to it and when Mr. Hayward pulled her hand down I could see her lip was swellin' up and gettin' red. Mr. Hayward thought 'Handsone Harry' done it and was raisin' an awful roughhouse, but—"

"Just what did Mr. Hayward say Moran?" McManis interrupted.

"Gees, I dunno! Somepin about killin' Borden for burtin' her—just like any guy'd say if he thought—"

"Stick to your story, Moran!" Mickey stuck out his lower lip sullenly. "Gees, I'm tryin' to, ain't I? Mr. Hayward started toward Borden's office and Miss Ruth swung onto him and held him back. She told him it wasn't 'Handsone Harry' that had hurt her lip, said she'd banged it on the door, like I told you. And she said if Mr. Hayward wouldn't believe her, she'd take back the promise she'd made him."

McMANIS'S pencil tapped an ominous accompaniment to the slow, painful beating of Ruth's heart. Finally she could stand that slow tapping no longer. She stepped toward the desk. "Please Mr. McManis! I ask you to believe me when I say that I didn't see Mr. Borden when I returned to my office to look for my savings bank book. The door between the offices was closed, and Mr. Borden was talking over the telephone."

McManis looked up at her from under beetling brows. "And I'm to believe, too, that you spent from four to six minutes looking for your bank book?"

"I did! I had filed it in Mr. Borden's bank folder by mistake. In stead of in the folder I use for my personal papers. I looked every where before it occurred to me that I had done so. I tell you, I didn't see Mr. Borden, that my lip was bruised against the door when I swung it open. I was in a hurry to rejoin Mr. Hayward—"

"Moran, your car was down at the main floor all the time you were waiting for Miss Lester, wasn't it? You couldn't have heard a shot if one had been fired on the seventh floor? Or did you hear one?"

"I didn't hear no shot!" Mickey Moran denied emphatically.

"Aren't you forgetting, McManis, that Mrs. Borden has already told of seeing Mr. Borden alive at 20 minutes of two?" Jack Hayward interrupted, his voice quivering with anger.

"I'm not forgetting anything, Hayward—thanks!" McManis grinned crookedly. "If you want to know here are three things I'm not for getting: First, that you had given Miss Lester a gun to protect her self against Borden's advances, if he ever took a fancy to your girl. Second, that everything points to the conclusion that Miss Lester's changed appearance had just the effect on 'Handsone Harry' Borden you had feared it would. Third, that $500 in cash—the exact amount of Mrs. Borden's separation allowance—is missing from Borden's body. Get my point?"

"I'm afraid I don't!" Jack retorted furiously.

"All right, if I have to spell it out in words of one syllable! Miss Lester comes back for her bank book Borden is alive, hears her return."

comes out, tries to kiss her, does kiss her so hard that her lip is bruised. She struggles with him, manages to reach her desk, gets out her gun, holds him off with it, until he backs into his private office—"

JACK HAYWARD laughed abruptly, sarcastically. "I was wonderin' how you were going to get him back in here!"

"Is that so?" McManis almost snarled. "Any man'll back up if a gun's leveled at his heart! She gets him in here and thinks she's safe, but he starts for her again, knowin' she's afraid of the gun, doesn't think she'll have the nerve to shoot it. He starts after her again and she lets him have it. She sticks the gun in the pocket of her fur coat and tears out of the office, crying and paintin' for breath. You meet her at the elevator. She forcibly restrains you from pounding on Borden's door, to make him let you in to beat him up—because she knows he's already dead!"

"Mrs. Borden didn't report the murder because she was afraid to, afraid she'd be accused of it. The body was still warm, you know. And she needed that $500 she found on him when she was feeling his heart to see if he was really dead. She knew well enough that a check held written for her and left on his desk was nothing but a scrap of paper, since he was dead."

"And why did Mrs. Borden close the window, McManis?" Jack asked.

"For the same reason that made her come here this morning," McManis retorted. "Because she loved her husband. No wife who loved her husband would want a January wind blowing in upon him, even if he was dead and unable to feel it. And knowing he was dead, she came here this morning to claim his body. . . . Going, Dr. Nielson?" the detective broke off to inquire, as the medical examiner stepped softly toward the door.

"You can tell the chief just how stupid McManis is, and ask him to prepare a warrant for the arrest of Ruth Lester. My only hope is that she gets as able a lawyer as Colby Lester to defend her."

JACK HAYWARD lunged toward McManis, trying to free him self of Ruth's convulsive embrace, but a mild, diffident voice halted him.

"Before you arrest anyone, especially Miss Lester, my dear Sherlock," Dr. Nielson spoke from the doorway. "I advise you to interview the woman who cleaned these offices Saturday afternoon. She, at least, would have no reason to conceal the murder. The chaps from the morgue will be here any minute now, and I'll phone you a report of my findings

RODNEY BRANDON
WELL EQUIPPED
FOR HIS PLACE

Should Make an Excellent
Head of Dept. Public Welfare

BY MORRIS WATSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Into the land of the free came Robert Owen and his little band of followers—dreamers, social philosophers, seekers. They would prove to a skeptical England that socialism was practical, that communism would solve the evils of the world.
So came the great experiment—Harmony settlement—on what is now the site of the University of Indiana. In 1810 that was. Stubborn pioneer folk, these. They would give their lives to prove or disprove what men had talked about for ages. If Utopia existed, they would find it.
So came Owen, his men and their women to denounce all values, to put aside all personal greed, to produce their own iron, their own sugar, their own furniture and tools, and trade tobacco for cotton a hundred miles across the hills.
Who can say whether it failed or was swallowed up in a compromise Utopia? This was the land where men already were judged equal—
But that is wandering; the point is:

Was His Background
This was the background of Rodney Brandon!
Rodney Brandon has background, more recent, and plenty of it. It is easy to see why Governor Louis L. Emmerson chose him for that cabinet of Illinois' penal and charitable institutions—the Department of Public Welfare.

Whether or no, the state must engage in social experimentation, must guard the race, help the helpless and remake the members that fall. Rodney Brandon has been through this business. One word tells his story: Mooseheart!

But, perhaps you are one of a very few in this broad land who hasn't heard of Mooseheart and the thirteen hundred children always in it to absorb the training that sends them into the world on equal plane with more fortunate competitors. Here is another great social experiment. One that succeeded!

Rodney Brandon's grandfather was one of those to throw his lot with Robert Owen. When the principle of Harmony settlement faded, that grandfather filed claim on 600 acres of the colony, which by then had been moved to the junction of the Wabash and Ohio rivers. There he reared Rodney Brandon's mother and there in 1831, within the crude walls of a still simple cabin, Rodney Brandon was born.

Sturdily he grew. His father was a rugged tiller of the soil; his mother versed in the art of teaching. They had met in college at Oskaloosa, Ia. Rodney Brandon absorbed the lore of Harmony colony.
Then came college, Indiana university—the same ground on which grandfather and his fellow sought Utopia—and Rodney graduated in 1901. Two years traveling as an auditor for the American Telephone & Telegraph company, and, finally came the chance to be what he had longed to be—a newspaperman.

Was Newspaper Man
He became city editor of the Anderson Herald at Anderson, Indiana. It now is a member of The Associated Press, but Rodney Brandon remembers when the presses waited while he met a 1 o'clock train to grab the buldog editions from Indianapolis, to rewrite the foreign news that only The Associated Press had.
About this time an obscure tin plate worker began to be interested in local politics. He was James J. Davis, now secretary of labor in President Coolidge's cabinet. He was elected county recorder and he occupied one of the offices on Rodney Brandon's beat.
Davis had been a wage earner and an observer of tragedy among his fellows, tragedy that too often made up the local news of the Anderson Herald. Every day wage earners died and left their families nothing, the children separated and the widows faced remarriage or unhappy old age. It was a frequent topic of discussion between Brandon and Davis.
Together they pondered.
Mooseheart was conceived!

Preached Fraternity
Davis passionately sympathetic; Brandon feeling the ancestral love for organization an experiment. There was no money. There was will. Davis travelled. Brandon travelled. In every nook and corner of America they preached a fraternal doctrine.
That was in 1906. Today chapters of Moose fill the land with total membership at 700,000 and assets at $40,000,000—and Mooseheart the flower of it all. Mooseheart with its 1,100 acres and 22 vocational courses taking the teeth from tragedy.
On promised funds, some actual money, luck and nerve, they located Mooseheart between Aurora and Elgin, Ill., adjacent to Batavia. Rodney Brandon took the helm. Already he was supreme secretary of Moose.

Who but an indefatigable organizer would out Mooseheart over? Who but an experimenter would let children experiment for themselves? Ninety ways of playing with tools of every and any trade; drilling in the chosen craft, then all the academic education that can be absorbed and culture, to—that's Mooseheart.
That is why so many hundred go back to their widowed mothers, heads up, independent—families unbroken.
That is why the federal government sent this round enthusiast twice to Europe to study child welfare and care of the infirm.

That is why Governor Emmerson asked him to organize and manage his campaign.
That is why Governor Emmerson drafted him for the Department of Public Welfare.

Married in 1909 to Harriette Lane of Anderson, Ind., Rodney Brandon has two daughters, Nancy 10, and Jean 13. At Mooseheart they live in Lockwood hall, which was built and occupied by the first director of public welfare in Illinois, Samuel D. Lockwood.

Glaucoma is Often Mistaken
for a Cataract

By Dr. C. F. YERGER
Chicago, Illinois

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Glaucoma is a disease of the eye in which the eye becomes hard and tense due to increased intra-ocular tension, which may be due to an increased inflow or a diminished outflow of the intra-ocular lymph fluid of the eye. It is one of the most malignant diseases of the eye that without early and appropriate treatment leads to permanent blindness. It consists of one per cent of all eye diseases. It usually involves both eyes at some time or other in the course of the disease.

Glaucoma is subdivided into two groups, primary and secondary glaucoma. The cause of primary glaucoma is unknown; it attacks an apparently healthy eye. Secondary glaucoma is caused by some disease or injury of the eye. Primary glaucoma is usually bilateral while secondary glaucoma is usually unilateral, with respect to eye involvement.

What we know about the causation of primary glaucoma is relatively unimportant because we are not certain how it is brought about. Our statistics show that it is rare before 40, that it is most frequent between 50 and 60 years of age and less common after 70. It is more common in women than men, Jews are predisposed and heredity is a frequent factor. It occurs more frequently in far-sighted than in large near-sighted eyes. There is no doubt present in all the cases a peculiar anatomical condition of the eye that favors the development of the disease. The exciting cause is usually ascribed to some emotional shock, as grief or joy, improperly corrected glasses and the inappropriate use of mydriatics.

All the symptoms and signs of glaucoma are readily explained on the basis of the increased intra-ocular tension. Primary glaucoma, which arises independent of any antecedent disease of the eye, will be

COMPTON NEWS

Compton—"For the Old Flag", a three act play which was presented at the opera house here last Saturday evening, drew a very large and appreciative crowd. The play was coached by Mrs. A. J. Beemer and showed adaptiveness of the coach and talent, by use many applauses that resounded after each and the final acts. Miss Orpha Beemer, Paw Pa which school student and only daughter of Mrs. A. J. Beemer, showed her talent by singing two numbers between the first and second act. Also Miss Vera Mireley sang wonderfully in the intermission between the second and third acts. Prof. Parker and his high school orchestra from Paw Paw furnished the music before the curtain. "Mrs. A. J. Beemer and the cast have been asking for parties from the neighboring towns to have the play over for the benefit of the respective communities. Mrs. A. J. Beemer, officer and member in the Royal Neighbors of America camp here, will turn over the proceeds of the play to her organization.

Mrs. Mary Nelson, some eighty years of age is suffering from severe cold attack at her home here in town.

About eleven o'clock last Sunday morning fire broke out on the roof of the John Tribbett home. H. G. Miller happened to discover the small flame, and as Mr. and Mrs. Tribbetts were at church, he secured necessary implements from a neighbor and extinguished the blaze, which had burned a large hole in the roof.

Paul Krings, who has been suffering from the effects of amputating his foot above the ankle, has become quite improved during the past week. The Regenhardt Construction company will spend another week here before loading their final car of machinery for their new paving job near St. James, Missouri. Several carloads of machinery have been shipped to the new camp and the company have men there rounding up equipment into shape for an early start in pouring concrete this spring. Mr. Andrews the bookkeeper for the company informed us that in Missouri the state takes care of the grading job, and any grading job has to stand from one to two years before the construction of a concrete road can take place, thereby enabling them to start the mixer earlier than they did when they came to Compton and Mendota last year.

Miss Leone Swope will spend a fortnight with relatives at West Brooklyn.

Miss Florence Hinrichs, Miss Fay Cook and Miss Lucille Cook attended the mid-winter Lee county teachers institute held at Amboy last Saturday.
